Randall Thompson of Caper Games Presents Get Adler!

Caper Games is a venture launched by Randall Thompson in 2001. After being laid off as an Admin Clerk for the government of B.C. with an eye injury in 1999, Thompson could no longer work on computers or watch TV because of his photo-phobia (sensitivity to bright lights). Randall began playing board games with his three children.

Caper Games latest offering is Get Adler! London, 1937 — Intelligence has discovered that Top-Secret documents are missing. So is MI6 Agent Adler! The only clue is an intercepted message: 'Trafalgar at seven'. MI5 Agent Gold, Inspector Sharpe of Scotland Yard and Constable Townsend have been thrown this task: Find and eliminate Adler! They've got seven hours.

Randall is raising funds to produce the first run of Get Adler! on the popular crowdfunding sight Kickstarter Please follow the kick-starter link below for more information!
